The Hybrid Buzz

Hybrid is a term used in lots of ways now – from cars to golf clubs. And the other products, it's not just different – it's better!

Medeco Hybrid keys utilize a high security key blade that operates the mechanical in a building, and adds the convenience of a RFID credential on the head of the key.

Previously available in 125 kHz prox, the Hybrid keys are now also available with iClass technology from HID. For technical information, click here. Watch for full details in April 2008!

Security Professionals Take the Next Step

Security professional is one of those terms that is easy to use, but difficult to define. exactly what gave the opportunity to those running 'phony' locksmith businesses with the primary business objective to harm a consumer instead of protect them.

One Medeco Security Center decided to take control when this threat hit their community. Click here to read more.
