NYC Cancer Treatment Facility Enjoys Success with Log...

HYBRID KEY

A well known cancer treatment facility in New York City needed audit and key scheduling capabilities on their facility due to the use of high powered prescription pain killers that are used in the treatment of their patients. They need to know who has access to these medications and when they are accessed. After receiving a suggestion that Logic could provide the audit trail and time scheduling features that they desired without the additional cost of a true hard wired electronic access control system, the organization expressed interest and requested additional information.

Dale Bowman, RSS Technical Sales Manager in the Northeast Region, was able to demonstrate the value of the Logic product and how it could fit the special needs required their treatment facility. The simplicity and cost-benefit of Logic was easily presented and quickly understood by the end-user. It provided them with a way to quickly change access rights, gain control over lost keys, and have the added benefit of audit trail on the desired areas of their facility. End result: Logic is going to be utilized at their cancer treatment and will be evaluated for further system expansion in the future as the need presents

Medeco and Arrow Key Records Welcome Mike Kirkpatrick

Please welcome Mike Kirkpatrick to Medeco and Arrow as our new Key Records Manager. Mike and his wife Elizabeth (AKA "The Redhead") are here from Rocky Mount, NC where he had been working the last eleven years for Kaba Ilco. For three years prior to that he was in NYC working for ASSA and Arrow with responsibility in those key records departments. Before joining ASSA full time, he owned and managed his own retail locksmith business in Seattle, WA. For about sixteen years he ran his business while doing part time training and trouble shooting for Assa, Abloy, Arrow, Medeco and Illinois Lock companies. For two years he also worked for Canada, Ltd as Operations Manager. When his Canadian work permit expired he fled his locksmith shop in Seattle and resumed being "on call" for when one of the needed him.

He spends his spare time making sure his Redhead, wife of 37 years, is happy. Welding and blacksmithing are his main interests but he also has a private pilot's license, as well as welding and machinist certifications.

We are very pleased to be able to add Mike's broad industry experience and expertise to the Medeco/Arrow Technical Services team. Mike can be reached at ext. 1677.

Arrow Spotlight

The Right Products for Security Professionals

Arrow has talked a lot about providing the right products to our security partners, and as part of the Security Professionals Network, we want to give you an inside look at some of the current production projects.

You will see more of the new product matrix in our materials next year, but at part of this network we want to make sure you are the first to see it. Our new product strategy builds around a good - better - best philosophy. We have segmented our products into three price points: Premier (Best), Classic (Better) and Value (Good). This is done so our partners will have the proper selling tools and product array for any price their customer needs.

As new products become available they will be positioned within this matrix to ensure we have the complete solution for your customers needs.
